Ellis Brazeal is a partner in the firm’s Business & Commercial Litigation Practice Group.

Mr. Brazeal has more than 30 years of experience in commercial litigation, including all levels of state, federal, and bankruptcy courts. His areas of experience include the representation of financial institutions, and construction and surety litigation. He is listed in Best Lawyers in America 2018, Mid-South Super Lawyers, and Chambers USA. Mr. Brazeal regularly lectures on construction law and ethics.

His undergraduate education in Aerospace Engineering, along with his Masters of Engineering focusing on aircraft structures, has proved very beneficial in understanding the technical aspects of his litigation matters.

Mr. Brazeal currently serves as an adjunct professor in the College of Engineering at the University of Alabama where he teaches a course in Space Law. In addition to focusing on various international treaties, the Space Law course deals with government contracting and aspects of international law. Mr. Brazeal also serves on the College’s Industrial Advisory Board.

Mr. Brazeal also serves on the Coordination Council for the Nebraska Space Grant Consortium in its implementation of a NASA initiative to promote Space Law at the nation’s law schools.

Mr. Brazeal is involved with the American Bar Association Forum on Aviation and Space Law, and recently served on a national Forum panel entitled “The Militarization of Space.”
