

FRANK MORRING, JR. BIO

Frank Moring, Jr. retired in June 2017 as senior space technology editor for Aviation Week & Space Technology. A native of Huntsville, Alabama, and graduate of Dartmouth College, he covered the space program throughout his 44-year journalism career and worked the beat full-time from 1991. In addition to Av. Week and its sister publications, his work has appeared in The New York Times, Baltimore Sun and the old Birmingham Post-Herald, which sent him to Washington as its correspondent in 1979. In retirement he lives on a horse farm in Casanova, Virginia, with his wife Bea Edwards. Both Frank and Bea are "NASA brats" whose fathers worked at the agency on Apollo and other human-spaceflight programs.